We know leadership

At Kumho Petrochemical Co., Ltd. (KKPC), we have grown along with our customers since our founding in 1970 by providing innovative petrochemical solutions and customer-focused service. Today as a trusted partner and the world's largest and most competitive producer of synthetic rubbers with world-class technology and products in the fields of phenol derivatives, synthetic resins, specialty chemicals, electronic materials, and building materials, we are now expanding into the fields of energy and advanced materials to drive future growth as we pursue our vision of being the flagship of a global leading chemical group.
